New Jersey ASID Chapter Presents Awards in 2020 Design Excellence Competition

Entrants from the New Jersey Chapter of the American Society of Interior Designers (ASID) recently learned the results of the annual Design Excellence Awards (DEA) competition over Zoom. Designer David Santiago of Casa Santi Interior Design and the Strictly Santi brand moderated the event. Interior designers and industry partners from the New Jersey Chapter of ASID – as well as friends, family, colleagues and media – were in attendance. Seventeen interior designers won a total of 32 prizes across 13 categories.

Designers could submit projects in residential and commercial/non-residential sectors. Winners spanned categories from Residential Single Space and Design for People with Specific or Special Needs to Government/Institutional Space. The Student Award was either for a residential or commercial space.

Judges are comprised of past award-winning ASID members from around the country and followed strict criteria in their judging. Entrants in all categories were judged on “positive impact on life and the human experience.”

“Winning projects demonstrated purpose, integrity, creativity and how exceptional design affects the people who use these spaces,” said Sandy Cabelis, Allied ASID and outgoing president of the New Jersey Chapter. “The NJ Design Excellence Awards reinforce the ASID commitment to demonstrating how design impacts lives.”
