When in doubt, designer Karen B. Wolf says to scale your lighting up rather than down for a grand impact, especially in a foyer. This chandelier not only impresses because of the glam factor, but it also illuminates the space perfectly thanks to all the bulbs. Additionally, Wolf notes, "The dazzling starburst shape is timeless, and the florets at the end of each rod soften the typically midcentury form so that it [works] as a transition piece between the historic and modern styles in this light-filled home."
